Tutoring Experience

During my time as a tutor, I've worked with students across various curricula, including IB and A-Level Geography, helping them break down complex geographical concepts. I assist students with both coursework and exam preparation, ensuring they feel confident and prepared for their assessments.

Additionally, I have experience tutoring younger students in IGCSE and AP Human Geography. My focus is on helping students develop a strong understanding of core topics while also honing their analytical skills, which are key to success in these exams.
