Tutoring Experience

Over the past decade, I've had the opportunity to work with students from diverse backgrounds, guiding them through challenging English courses. My focus has been on helping students excel in IB English and A-Level English, equipping them with the analytical and critical thinking skills needed to succeed in both coursework and exams.

In addition to teaching IB and A-Level English, I have also tutored students in AP English and IGCSE English. My goal is to help students develop a strong understanding of English literature, while also preparing them for their exams. I've worked with students from across the globe, helping them achieve high marks and secure admissions to top universities.
